

Art Made Using Plants and Flowers

Collaboration between Fendi and botanical artist, Azuma Makota: Pop Up Flower Shop

Living Painting at the National Gallery, London. Recreation of a floral masterpiece by Dutch artist Ambrosius Bosschaert the Elder - A Still Life of Flowers in a Wan-Li Vase (1609-10) using 26,500 fresh flowers.

Flower Figure by French artist, Jean-Michel Bihorel. Bihorel utilized 3D scanning technology to capture a bunch of dried white hydrangeas that were then multiplied and modeled over a female form.

Mountains and Fields Made of Pressed Flowers

Flower Carpet in Brussels. A biennial event, for which a theme is chosen. Volunteers create the 19,000 square foot “carpet” from nearly 1,000,000 begonias.

Link to a time lapse video showing the creation of one of the carpets.

<https://petapixel.com/2020/06/19/mini-timelapse-captures-the-making-of-the-famous-flower-carpet-in-brussels/>

Frozen Flowers by South African photographer, Bruce Boyd. The temporary sculptures are created with real flowers, placed in water and then frozen. The photographs are then captured underwater. Boyd says the best compliment is when someone tells him they look like paintings. Here is a link to an article with many photographs of his amazing arrangements. <https://www.insider.com/bruce-boyd-photos-of-flowers-frozen-in-ice-2019-9>

Frida by Vicki Rawlins

Flower art by Polish artist, Elzbieta Wodala

Ballerinas from Facebook page of House of Plants

(Personal aside: When I saw them, I was reminded of the Gullah Ladies workshop we did in 2018, facilitated by Marcia Driscoll. The ones below were created by Cindy Hammond and Martha Keet).

Collage of foliage and flowers by Seattle artist, Bridget Beth Collins

The Canopy by Australian artist, Rebecca Louise Law. Made of 150,000 native Australian flowers.