1	Michael Askew	Beachfront Trio, French Polyn	Photography	An interesting trio of cabins on the beach on Fakarava Atoll in French Polynesia. We were on a scuba diving trip and passing these properties before diving. Summer never ends in these islands and atolls.
2	Stephanie Askew	Wild White Rose	Watercolor	Wherever I move I take cuttings and bulbs of my perennials with me. It's special to have this nature history follow me from all over the US. I love the various colors of these gems from my gardens
3	Stephanie Askew	Birds in Flight!	Watercolor	I am thrilled to learn if I was careful and protected this in winter, , my favorite flower and special species of "bird", they could winter here on Dataw.
4	Stephanie Askew	Gone to Pot	Acrylic	I love to garden and dig in the dirt.
5	Stephanie Askew	Gators Galore	Quilt	Lap quilt 47" x 47" - After moving to SC last year, it was obvious I would need to learn to embrace the gators and respect their territory as they were here first, so When I came upon this quilt pattern it was just the perfect way to bring some serious humor to this serious critter. :-)
6	Lynn Baker	Wildweeds	Monoprint	Our Mission fig tree loves to produce fruit. We happily share the abundance with the birds in mid-summer.
7	Pat Blumer	Race Day	Acrylic	Acrylic on canvas
8	Pat Blumer	Summer Marsh	Acrylic & Watercolor	Watercolor on board
9	Pat Blumer	Wind's Up!	Acrylic	Acrylic on board
10	Pat Blumer	Sunny Day on Lake Michigan	Watercolor	Inspired by sun and shadows and a beautiful subject
11	Liza Boyajian	Everlasting Bouquet	Mixed Media	Experimenting with adding negative space to a painted background to create an image. Underpainting of acrylic inks with addition layers of acrylic paint, collage, post paint pens and gel pens.
12	Liza Boyajian	It's Always Summer In The Ca	Mixed Media	Inspired by a Dar James online workshop creating layers of collage using Golden High Solid Gel Gloss to create depth along with hand painted and printed papers and mark-making with several types of paint and ink pens.

13	Barbara Carakostas	Wanderlust	Mixed Media	Love of traveling.
14	Anne Clements	Gasparilla	Oil	Our beach was huge, but to get there we had to take a "secret" path. The path always resonated with me, a bit of excitement soon to appear..
15	Anne Clements	Enticement	Oil	A peek at the beach on Hunting Island made me want to go further for a summertime walk..
16	Anne Clements	Slow and Easy	Oil	When we stay with my sister on the Eastern Shore pf Virginia, the pace is slow and easy. The view from the back of her house gives me ample opportunity to paint.
17	Marie Doyon	Endless fun	Paper collage	My great niece, Misha
18	Marie Doyon	Summer Sky	Pastel	A photograph by Liza Boyajian inspired this piece.
19	Marie Doyon	Summer Sunset	Acrylic	Dataw sunsets provide endless inspiration and this is one on Jenkins creek

25	Nancy Fox	Summer Flowers	Watercolor	Vibrant colors of Summer Flowers.
26	Nancy Fox	The Garden Hat	Watercolor	Everyone needs a summertime nat.
27	Dick Golobic	July 4, Lake Tahoe	Photography	Visiting our son in the Lake Tahoe area, he took us to the annual July 4 fireworks. This show is considered among the top 5 in the country. A memorable photographic experience.
28	Ginny Hall-Apicella	Sunrise Siblings	Photography	While we were on turtle patrol at Hunting Island, the sun was rising. Two children walked into the frame, and summer was caught in her majesty.
29	Janice Herbert	Blue Crab	Watercolor	This piece is inspired by my love of the beach and all of its "critters".
30	Jacqueline Jones	Summer Splash	Mixed media	Inspired by all the flowers I see when I walk on Dataw Island.
31	Jacqueline Jones	Shopping Spree	Mixed media	I love looking at textiles and shopping for great fabric especially in Europe.
32	Judith Ludwig	Shall We Dance	Watercolor	Summer weddings -This painting inspires me with visions of my parent's generation. As they step out onto the dance floor for their wedding dance, all dreams seem within reach. (Painted with photographer's consent.)
33	Judith Ludwig	Precious Memories	Watercolor	There's something magical about summer breaks—the unspoken understanding between best friends, the late-afternoon light, the quiet thrill of not needing to be anywhere else. That kind of moment doesn't ask for anything more than to be felt deeply and wishing time could stop.
34	Judith Ludwig	Making Lunch Plans	Watercolor	This snowy egret seems to have one thing on his mind-lunch! How blessed we are to live among them. Photo by Rosemary Patterson
35	Emily Mahoney	Tactile Turtle- please touch!	Acrylic	Feel free to touch the turtle; bumps, lumps and scales.

49	Dickie Odom	Primaries with Light and Shadow	Photography	I was struck by the primary colors of this photo, both pigment and prism primaries, and by the light and shadow effects on the subject, my granddaughter who is now a senior in college.
50	Dickie Odom	Hibiscus	Photography	I was taken with the color combinations in this flower and how some flowed together and others were starkly contrasting. And the telling signs of bee activity with the traces of pollen on the leaf of grass seemed to make it come alive.
51	Dickie Odom	Sunlit Passage II	Oil on canvas	I saw the original of this painting by John Zaccheo, a 30"x 40", in a Charlotte gallery and it inspired me to go to an art supply store to buy oils, brushes, pallet knives and a 15"x 20" canvas to copy from a greeting card this quarter scale replica. My first ever painting since finger painting in first grade.
52	Teresa Rollins	The Old Oak Swing	Watercolor & Ink	When I was a little girl I spent a lot of time in Beaufort/Hunting Island area and always had a fascination with the gorgeous oaks. I can't think of anything that says summer more than a welcoming tree swing hanging from a strong, solid oak!
53	Teresa Rollins	Vase with Flowers	Watercolor & Ink	Fresh flowers in a home are one of my favorite things. Summertime is the perfect time to bring the outdoors in.
54	Jennifer Ruiter	Carolina Gold	Watercolor	South Carolina's glorious rice crop sways gently in the summer heat as an unnamed woman pauses to admire... or perhaps think of her heavy harvest work ahead.
55	Bill Sloan	Are We There Yet?	3D - wood, steel, to	A Summer road trip can seem endless ... You are experiencing a Mobius Trip
56	Bill Sloan	Surf's Up	3D - Wood, Epoxy	Watching the surf roll in on a recent beach vacation was the inspiration. In creating the piece I experimented with a few new turning and finishing techniques.
57	Andy Smith	County Line	Photography	Searching for the perfect wave.
58	Andy Smith	June Moon Over Bryce Canyon	Photography	Taken around midnight.
59	Linda Stevens-Sloan	Summer Blooms	Watercolor	Flowers are usually my inspiration and I love the challenge of this bloom which has so much white in it. It has been a different challenge for me.

60	Bill Tremitiere	LowCountry Panorama	Acrylic	This is a 360 degree, three dimensional painting of the Low Country with an "endless" image.
61	Bill Tremitiere	Floating Down the River	Acrylic	As teenagers, we used to swim in the Delaware River in front of my aunt's and uncle's house in the village of Titusville, New Jersey. Actually, we wouldn't swim. We would brace our feet against underwater rocks and, facing downstream, the river current against our backs would hold us in place - sometimes for hours. These events would really be special when they were on the Fourth of July.
62	Bill Tremitiere	The Old Towpath	Acrylic	This painting depicts the towpath along the Delaware-Raritan canal near Washington's Crossing on the Delaware River.
63	Bill Tremitiere	I'm Just Old and Crabby	Photography	This old crab trap had finally retired on a dock along Jenkin's Creek on Dataw.
64	Shelley Welch	Forgotten Summer Evenings	Watercolor	We have an empty home next door with great views of the marsh and Morgan river. As I looked for compositions for a class, this beautiful scene is what I found.
65	Shelley Welch	Floating with Lillies	Mixed media	I was inspired by my northern experience of ponds filled with water lilies.
66	Susan Zienowicz	Summer Solstice	Mixed media	Vivid, bright, hot colors contrasted with black shapes for a dramatic geometric abstract. Done with various markers and collage paper. The grey areas were pieces of a black and white photo of my parents July wedding, adding special meaning.
67	Susan Zienowicz	Summer in bloom	Mixed media	Inspired by the color scheme of my niece's home, this fantasy flower is bright orange with turquoise accents.
